backbone of the Democratic party in the state and has been such for years. They assert that he has been a great factor in the marvelous development of Charleston and surrounding country, as well as a great friend to the great section comprising the southern end of West Virginia, which is advancing so rapidly.

Southern Kid's Demand.

Another argument they are quietly advancing, not openly because of the fact that they do not wish to array any northern-end legislators against Chilton, is that the southern part of the state has a just right to one of the senatorships.

Chilton sentiment seems to be systematically moulding here to the extent that it is likely to take the Legislature as one fell swoop, when nomination day rolls around.

It is a safe prediction, the Chilton people say, that Chilton and Watson will be found in the same camp at the finish. It is McGraw's scalp they are after.

COMPLETE

white Wyandottes, game bantams, black Minorcas, silver spangled Hamburgs, single comb white Leghorns and buff rocks.

The judge of the exhibition, J. A. McIntosh, of East Liverpool, O., and his assistants were busy the greater part of the day judging and scoring the exhibits. The work will probably not be completed until Thursday morning. Mr. McIntosh says he is agreeably surprised to find the birds on exhibition of such unusual quality. This is especially true in the case of white Wyandottes and barred Rocks, these birds leading the other varieties in quality. Some of the Wyandottes scored as high as 95½ points; and barred Rocks, which are rated two points less, scoring 94 points.

For the benefit of those not familiar with the process of judging poultry, a brief explanation may be given. One hundred points is taken as a standard for a perfect fowl, its symmetry, size, weight, eyes, head, and so on being rated at a certain number of points; the total amounting to one hundred. If the description of a perfect white Wyandotte as given by the American Poultry Association, calls for weight of ten pounds, and the fowl under examination is under weight, one or two or more points are taken off, according to the amount the fowl weighs less than the required ten pounds. A small per cent is taken off for each defect and the total subtracted from 100 points, the remainder constituting the score.

Quite a crowd attended the exhibition Tuesday night and a larger number is expected tonight.

A feature that is rather agreeable to the exhibitors, and perhaps more so to the poultry-folk, is the presentation of an 8-pound bag of Purina poultry feed to each exhibitor, with the compliments of the S. C. Watkins Company.

Aside from the pleasure and interest in rearing and caring for a fine lot of fowls, there seems to be profit in it as well. One exhibitor took up poultry raising as merely a side issue, outside of his regular occupation, and cleared nearly a hundred dollars profit last year.
